

NERVY NAT TAKES QUARTERS AT A SWELL HOTEL

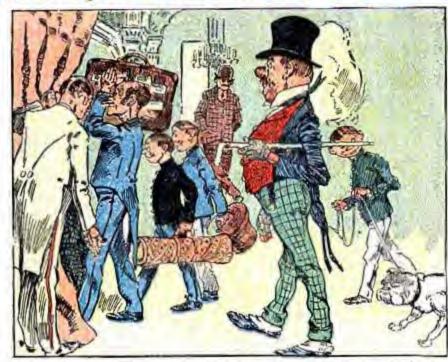

I. Cases (at Walled Off Posteria)—"Will you register, my ford?"

Native Nat—"This mental addresses me as if I were a gas-meter. Will I register? Just watch the. I'll put a name in this autograph-album that will make the rest look like tive-cents' worth of peanuts. 'Nervy—er—Sir Reginald Somerville, N. G., B. & O., P. D. Q., N. Y. C. & H. R. R., London.'
How does that scrape you?"

O'Tools (at the door) -- "Well, blame me oyes if he don't bate th' world at a bluff!"

4. Nievy Nar-" Great Julius Gæsar! what was that? A knock on the door. The last time! heard a knock like that it belonged to a vinegary friend named Caduc of Paree. Lord Somerville, old boy, you are losing your sang froid. Brace up! Come, Algernon; we'll ope you door and face the music."

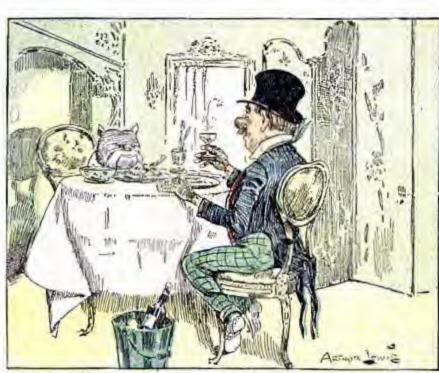

2. Neevy Nat—"Well, so far, so good. The star porter and the head steward! The imperial suite! Now, who in stewed pruces is that mug holding up you post? He certainly is not one of this bunch. That tangus growth, as it were, is just at the present juncture the only militant feature of the situation—the nature-fakir, so to speak, in an otherwise peaceful vacation time. Mayhap he is nobody, and mayhap he is a detective anxious to spot his lordship's duds."

5. Warren-"Your dinner, m'lud," Nervy Nar-" Well, for -for this relief, garden, much thanks-relief mentally and in the interior of my sub-cellar. Just put it in the trough, and;
shul the gate after you as you leave, glease,"

3. Neavy Nat —" That's right, Algernon; make yourself luxurious, and curl up on that $40,000 Persian rug and take a slesta. I'll just burn up this perfecte and form a ways-and-means committee of one. By the exone of fried onions! If there isn't that fungus growth with the discursive eye prowling back and forth on the half Axminster."

6: Neavy Nat—" Algernon, I feel rather ashamed of myself, after all. This is so much easier than taking milk-bottles out of baby-carriages in the park. It is frightfully fatiguing to get a living so effortlessly. Here's to you! How do you like the imperial dining-room? Costs all it's worth—yes?"
